

Mentoring
Stan Patterson
April 4, 2006

Classic Theory of Learning

- Effortless
- Continual
- Unpremediated
- Boundless
- Independent of rewards or punishment
- Socially constructed
- Based on self-image
- Never forgotten
- Growth

Frank Smith, The Book of Learning and Forgetting

Mothers, for instance, know you will learn from the kids you play with.

Official Theory of Learning

- Occasional
- Hard work
- Obvious
- Limited
- Intentional
- Based on effort
- Individualistic
- Memorization
- Dependent on punishment /reward
- Easily forgotten
- Intellectual activity

Direction of the Question Test:

Classic Theory—from the student

Official Theory—from the teacher

Illustration: Vocabulary

By age 6 learned 10,000 – 14,000 words